You need to implement the design from the `_HTML` folder into the frontend without breaking the functionality with the backend.

Very important: do not break the existing functionality. The following features are already working and must not be broken: * Login * Registration * Password reset * Forgot password The other pages like Video, Inbox, and Settings do not have backend functionality yet, but the design still needs to be implemented for them.

include all existing libraries in the backend and frontend without making any changes.
If you see that we need any additional libraries, you can add them. Just create a .txt file and list what you added.

In the backend/requirements.txt file, you'll find all the packages I have installed. Under Settings, you can find the database information — it's about PostgreSQL.

git is: https://github.com/kmennat/MYMOORBI.git